Thank you to the entire Mount Washington Resort team who sat through department meetings, attended visioning sessions, and sent along information in an effort to outline how our Resort can be more sustainable. This plan would not be complete without everyone’s tireless efforts.
Introduction

Sustainability is the concept of balancing environmental protection, economic development and social capital in an effort to meet our current needs while ensuring future generations have the ability to meet their needs as well. Sustainability requires using a systematic approach to daily operations and problem solving. Sustainability recognizes that all things are connected and our decisions in one area effects the outcome in another. Today, sustainability is a lifestyle, a responsibility, and a practice that is expected and many individuals and businesses are paving the way as true leaders in sustainability.

Mount Washington Resort has developed a Five Year Sustainability Plan which outlines the Resort’s mission, goals, and implementation process for sustainable practices and development. As the Five Year Plan is meant to be an internal operating document, this Executive Summary highlights the main points of the Plan and can be shared with others.

Mount Washington Resort’s Commitment

Under the ownership and leadership of Celebration Associates, LLC, Crosland, LLC, and CNL Lifestyle Company, LLC along with the supervision of National Resort Management, LLC, Mount Washington Resort is under a grand transformation of restoration and development. With a goal to be the premier resort destination in New England, the partners and their planning team have developed a vision for the Resort and are developing plans and programs to implement this vision. The Resort will include approximately 980 new residential homes and a traditional mixed use New England village complete with commercial, residential, recreational and cultural entities. The design and programming for the Resort embraces the architectural and cultural landscape of the region; the idea is to create a place and a community that feels as if it were always here.

The other aspect that is important in the future planning of the Resort is the respect for the surrounding environment. People have enjoyed Mount Washington Resort for decades for its natural setting and access to outdoor recreational pursuits. Artists have come to the area to study and create masterful works that represent the rural landscape. Many regional flora and fauna have made the White Mountain region their home. This environment is what makes the Resort unique. It is essential to develop the Resort in a way that respects and supports this environment for future generations to enjoy.
In the summer of 2008, several Resort executives, managers, and passionate employees engaged in a day long visioning session to discuss ways to support the surrounding environment while growing a prosperous community in Bretton Woods. The goal of the sustainability visioning session was to define a sustainable Resort environment, develop a mission for sustainability, create goals and projects to support this mission, and discuss incorporation of sustainability into the Resort’s culture. Sustainability was defined as a complex idea that relied on balancing economic, social and environmental goals over a long period of time. It’s success is determined through its seamless integration into Resort operations and culture and through redefining its purpose as sustainability initiatives evolve. The participants stressed that now is the right time to discuss and embrace sustainability as the Resort plans for growth and development. The Resort stands to be a true leader in sustainability showing other businesses and developers how to successfully incorporate environmental and social responsibility into a business’s operations and a newly developed community.

The Resort adopted a sustainability mission which reads:

“The mission of Mount Washington Resort is to support sustainability through environmental protection, economic and community development and social engagement. Through continued education of our staff and visitors, and seamless integration into our resort culture, Mount Washington Resort strives to be more efficient, less wasteful and a true leader in sustainability. Mount Washington Resort is committed to the long term investment and evolution in creating a sustainable future.”

Purpose of the Plan

The purpose of the Five Year Sustainability Plan is to create a guiding document for all new sustainability initiatives for the next five years. The plan provides guidance to the executives, directors, and managers on developing goals to implement sustainable practices in a pragmatic way. The Five Year Sustainability Plan also serves as a supplement to the annual business plans. How do you determine what project gets funded in what year? How do you set goals for department heads in year one for a project that is to be completed in year three? This plan will be used annually in conjunction with business and budget planning, and used to determine managers blue chips, or goals, for the upcoming year. It is the responsibility of the executives to work with the managers to set these goals and the managers responsibility to work with their staff to implement these goals. Lastly, the Five Year Sustainability plans also shows transparency to the Resort’s customers and to collaborating organizations. It shows that the Resort has a plan for accomplishing its mission and intends to hold itself accountable for implementation and monitoring of the goals in the plan. This plan can be used for marketing and collaborative purposes not only to show others that the Resort is serious in supporting sustainable practices but also as a guide to other organizations who seek assistance in developing their own plans.
Resort Operations

Resort Operations includes the day to day functions of the Resort including guest services, activities and events, dining services, maintenance of the property, sales, reservations, and others. Resort Operation sustainability goals and tasks for the Five Year Plan are categorized as policies, projects and programs.

Meetings were conducted with all departments at the Resort to gain insight on how that department envisioned incorporating sustainability into their daily operations and future programs. Each department is responsible for working on implementing initiatives in their department and assisting the Resort in the development of Resort-wide wide policies, projects and programs.
Resort Development

Mount Washington Resort is expanding. The Resort’s development plans include just under one-thousand new residential units, a traditional New England village comprised of housing, commercial facilities, and community/tourism centers, and renovations to the existing infrastructure and programs around the Resort. As the development team creates plans for these expansion and renovation projects the use of sustainable development practices and building techniques should be employed.

The development team has included sustainable, smart growth practices into its operations and first phase of development including, but not limited to, Residential Sustainability Guidelines, recycling in the office, planning for Dartmouth Brook which includes compact development and conservation of natural resources and trails, environmental education, and a conservation easement in Dartmouth Brook.
